*Le Chalet Zannier
Mégeve, France*

Near the village of Mégeve in the French Alps, entrepreneur and founder of shoe brand NDC Made By Hand Arnaud Zannier opened a business in the hope of filling the void he saw between new but inauthentic design hotels and stuffy old-world châteaux.

Started in 2011, Zannier's 12-room abode is an hour from Geneva at the foot of the Mont Blanc mountain range. Inside, crackling fires and cream Belgian-linen sofas create an inviting atmosphere.

After exploring the pistes, achy muscles can be unknotted with a massage followed by dip in the pool, while Michelin-starred chef Julien Burlat's truffle risotto and frog legs at La Ferme de mon Père restaurant will re-energise weary winter sportsmen. — MSS
