Zannier Reserve

In Namibia, the Omaanda of Zannier Hotels offers a successful encounter between nature and architecture designed in full respect of the surrounding bush landscape. The designers did not hesitate to shape the lodge huts looking at the simple shapes of the ovambo constructions. The skillful use of traditional materials, with the abundant use of wood, thus aids in the shaping of a chest of subtle and discrete luxury that springs from minimalist lines and a décor that is attentive to Namibian suggestions. The Lodge is in the heart of the immense Zannier Reserve by N / a'an ku sê, the reserve created by Zannier Hotels with the N / a'an ku sê Foundation to conserve and regulate flora and fauna.

Paolo Gerbaldo

One lives suspended days in the Omaanda. We are far from the frenzy of the world, enjoying a timeless and endless landscape. The wellness experience proposed by the Spa fits perfectly in this secluded space. It too is characterized by a manicured setting devoted to the Namibian style. The menu draws inspiration from local traditions without neglecting international must-haves. In the central core of the complex is, instead, the Ambo Delights Restaurant which, in an informal setting opening onto the bush which extends to the horizon, offers a cuisine with a Mediterranean imprint.

There are many pleasures offered by a lodge with an authentic dimension like that of Omaanda. One of the most intense can be enjoyed with a game drive that starts in the late afternoon. The expert guide, with the assistance of a bushman, leads us in the discovery of the Zannier Reserve following the tracks of animals until the unmistakable form of an elephant or a rhinoceros is seen. A theory of unspeakable emotions sealed by an aperitif at sunset. Meanwhile, all around us reigns only the absolute silence of immensity.
